New to town? A new diagnosis arrived in your world? Have you found yourself lost amongst our community's growing array of services and providers?

Diversability Inc., in conjunction with Full Access High Desert and Partners in Possibilities, is thrilled to announce the launch of a unique and comprehensive website designed to ease our access to resources.

Resources can be challenging to connect with, especially when information constantly changes, and even more challenging when you're new in town! Our team developed a dynamic resource acquisition tool, including personalized resource navigation for individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities and their families.

DiversabilityVillage.Org is a tool meant to help our community connect with services and providers. It is unique to individual experiences.

Please go to DiversabilityVillage.Org and discover your path away from isolation and toward connection!

DiversabilityVillage.Org is where individuals with diversabilities and their families build community.
